THE FLOW OF LINES

Photo Exhibition by Siegfried Hansen

On view: Thursday 19th November- Saturday 12th December 2020

In the words of the Photographer: "The street is open for anyone to see. With my camera, I capture my own perspective of the situation. Street Photography gives me great freedom to express my point of view and to me, this is art. There is no restriction to street photography. For instance, unlike landscape photography, it is not necessary to travel to a particular destination or place so as to capture the scene. Street Photography moments happen everywhere as soon as we step out of our house."

He is one of the photographers featured in the book "Street Photography Now". Siegfried's work has been widely exhibited, including solo exhibitions in Germany and group exhibitions in Europe and the United States.

Siegfried has been a speaker and a juror at many photo festivals around the world. In 2015 The German Kettler Verlag published his very successful book: "Hold The Line" and he then served as a Mentor at the „Master of Photography“ TV Show on Sky Arte in 2017. "The intention of my street photography style is not to document a particular place or to show the exact object. I am more interested in conveying my personal vision of the world and my take on it. And my higher purpose is simply to touch people with my art – to open the door to their imagination, to their feelings and memories."
